I am pleased to acknowledge the successful launch of MC Learns through Workday. The transition to MC Learns through Workday, which went live on December 18, 2020, marks another milestone in the College's Workday project.

Among its many features, MC Learns through Workday offers a modern and intuitive user-interface that features search functionality to easily browse courses and classes, MC-required training located in one place, and a new learning dashboard that will help manage individual preferences and interests.

As the Executive Sponsor, and on behalf of the Workday Executive Steering Committee, I extend my heartfelt gratitude to the entire Workday project team. Each day they demonstrate their commitment to this significant collegewide initiative. With each step forward, we get closer to our goals of making it easier for all College employees to access and manage their personal HR and finance-related information, while improving the College's overall efficiency and effectiveness on an organizational level.

I also want to specifically recognize the Offices of E-Learning, Innovation, and Teaching Excellence; Human Resources and Strategic Talent Management; and Information Technology. The transition to MC Learns through Workday is the result of many hours of collaboration between these units. Their efforts, especially while managing the ongoing details of our remote work environment, are sincerely appreciated.
